

DPLA Community Development Seminar

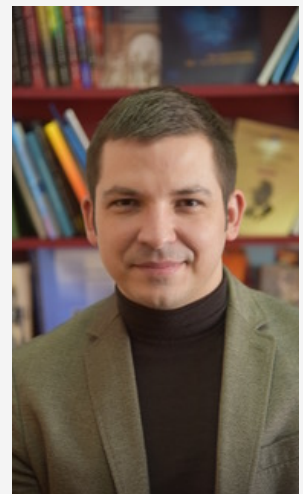

Rural Development and Tourism: An international perspective

Presented by Dr. Marko Petrovic, Visiting Scholar with DPLA

Learn more about Dr. Marko Petrovic at: <https://dpla.wisc.edu/staff/petrovic-marko/>

Dr. Petrovic will discuss his research on the interaction between tourism, local communities, rural studies, and related topics. He will also introduce potential opportunities for future international collaboration.

Dr. Petrovic is research associate at Social Geography Department of the Geographical Institute "Jovan Cvijic" Serbian Academy of Sciences and Arts in Belgrade (SERBIA). His research interests include rural development, rural economy, tourism's impact assessment, community-based economy planning, and spatial aspects of tourism development.

Friday, February 21 at 12:00 PM ————— Music Hall room 208

Department of Planning and Landscape Architecture
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON